

Holly Rowe

MOTHER | SPORTS JOURNALIST | PHILANTHROPIST

350K+
total social media followers

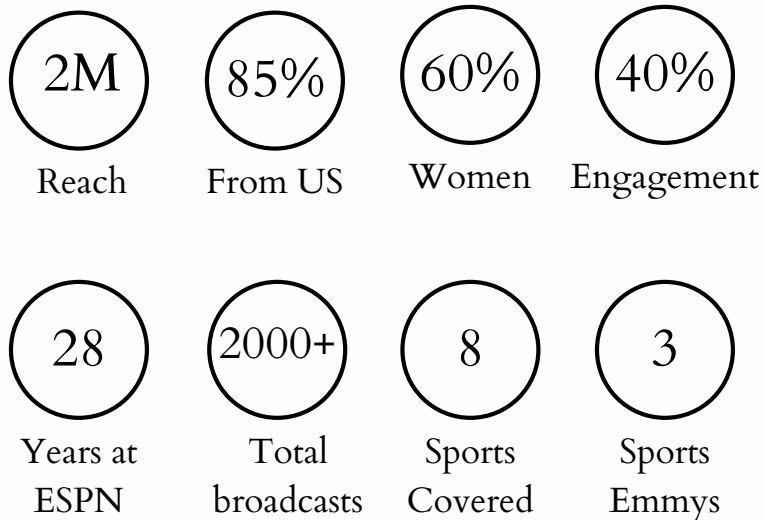

ABOUT ME

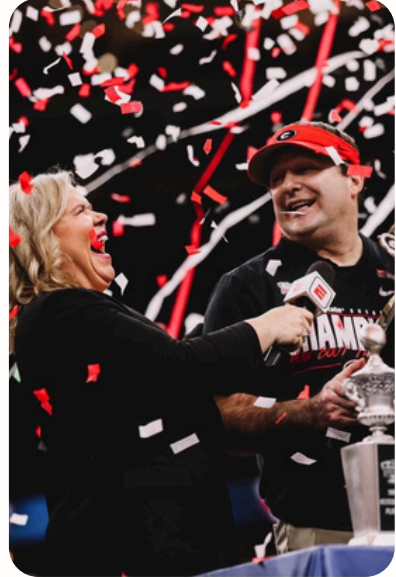

One of ESPN's most versatile commentators, Holly Rowe has worked in sports journalism for more than 30 years. Covering a wide variety of sports and high-profile events including NCAA Women's Final Four, NCAA Women's College World Series, ABC Saturday Night Football, Big Monday men's college basketball, Heisman Trophy Ceremony, and the WNBA. She also made history in 2021 as the Utah Jazz's first female color commentator.

The award-winning Rowe is one the most respected sideline reporters in all of sports. She is a producer and writer who graduated from the University of Utah with a broadcast journalism degree.

Personally, after a Stage IV Metastatic Melanoma diagnosis, Rowe has become a tireless advocate for cancer research and prevention.

@SPORTSIREN

SERVICES

SPEAKING

Whether it's on the topic of sports, personal branding, cancer survivorship, wellness, or motherhood, book me to host or speak at your next event.

MEDIA TRAINING

Prepare for the spotlight with my team and individual media training sessions. Learn how to become comfortable on camera, communicate clearly, and represent your organization well.

CONTENT CREATION

Have an idea or collaboration that targets my social media audience? Let's work together to reach your content goals.

hello@thehollyrowe.com

PHILANTHROPY

JOY+US FOUNDATION

ALEX WILCOX SCHOLARSHIP

